

By Christopher Thompson

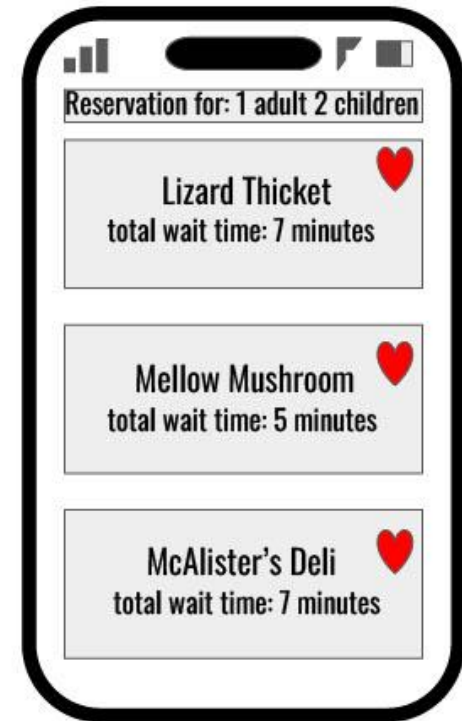

The story of Adrian Harris by Tamiya Shepherd

Adrian just got off work and picked up her children from daycare and school. They headed home in hopes of having dinner together. Once they got home Adrian looked into the fridge and it was empty. She panicked she forgot to go grocery shopping.

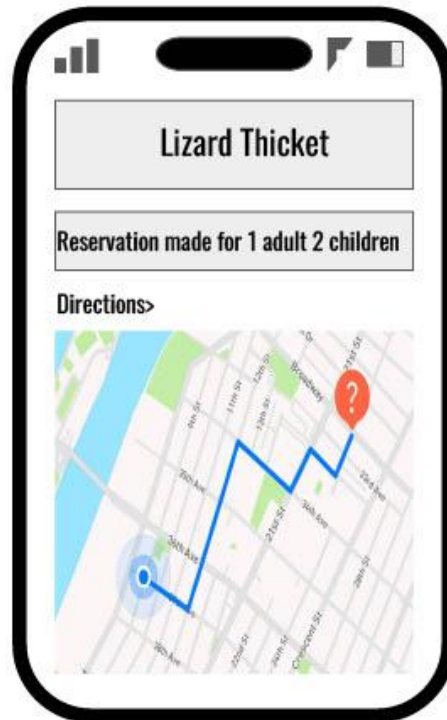

Adrian quickly looks up restaurants for her children and herself to eat at. She looks at the restaurants that are the closest to her current location and that have the shortest wait time available.

Adrian clicks a restaurant from one of her local favorites. She then looks into the menu to make sure the restaurant has the correct type of dietary restrictions for her and her children.

After looking thoroughly through menu and the dietary restriction. Adrian reserves the table, then her and her kids head to the restaurant for dinner.

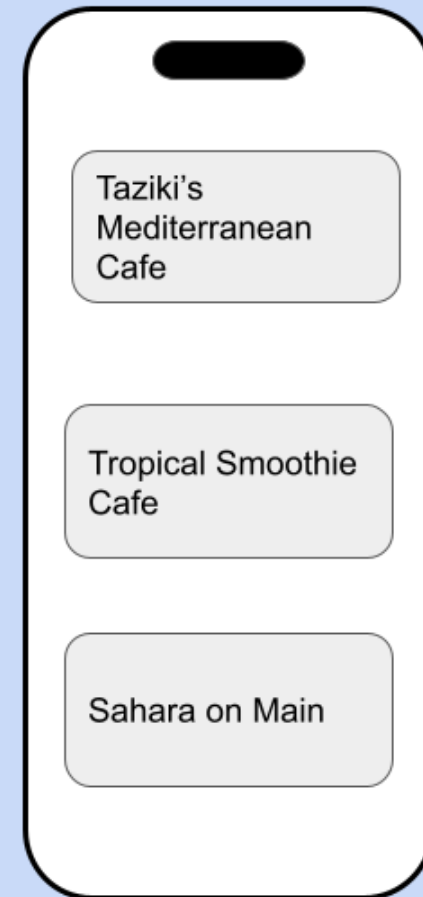

They made it safely to the restaurant. Ordered their food, ate, and had a great time together as a family.

The story of Eleanor Johnson

Eleanor after a long day of work wants something healthy to eat but also to try a new place. She remembers that her friend suggested this app so she checks it out.

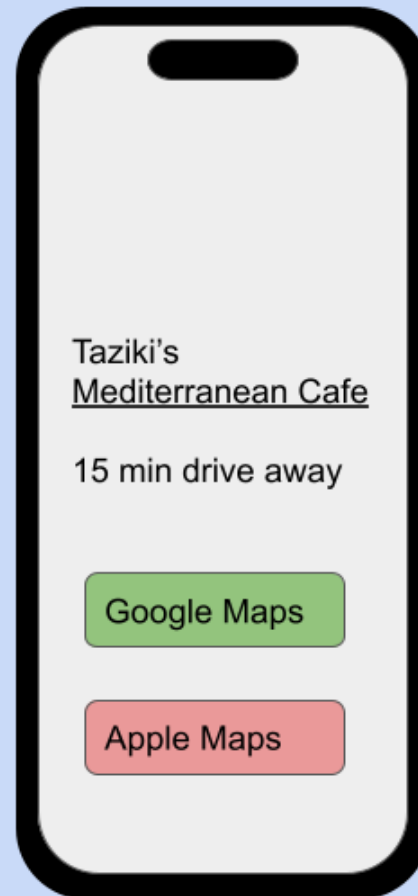

Eleanor and her husband download the app and browse through restaurants trying to find something to appease both their appetites

Eleanor and her husband browse the restaurants options where they can click to see ingredients and nutritional values

Once they decide what they want they use the app to order their food for dine in

They then used the app to navigate them to the restaurant

Eleanor and her husband go to the restaurant where they enjoy their meal